The trial of the men who were caught making moonshine was held at Compeer on Tuesday. They had a big supply of the "wet goods" up at the Big Stampede in the Hills, in July, where they did a rushing business until the police rounded them up. Their premises at Compeer were searched and a complete still was found which had been turning out the poison for many moons. Heilman was found guilty of operating an illicit still and was fined $500.00 and costs, and Leboldus was mulcted $100.00 and costs for selling the product of the still. A third man in the case is at present away in the States and his hearing will take place on his return. The still was confiscated by the police.

The General Meeting of the Sounding Lake U. F. A. will be held in the Horse Shoe School on Sat. August 16th, at 8 p. m. General business.

ALERT ALTARIO

Village life has been enlivened lately by the presence of the "boys" in the telephone and surveyors camps. They are a cosmopolitan bunch and hale from all corners of the globe. We had the pleasure of seeing many photographs from Flanders and France, and hearing from snipers and machine gunners tales of the trenches that would make valuable copy to an author of adventure stories. Truth is stranger than fiction and the real experiences of these lads who faced this foe year after year thrill one to the heart, making us feel that we shall never know how great is our gratitude to the lads who went over the top that we might live at peace on the plains. Good luck to the boys of the Allies, let's cheer them on their way!

Baseball has been the centre of attraction all week and the boys and girls seem to have enjoyed their evenings sport to the full. "Mrs. Grundy" made remarks about the late hours that young folks of today keep without a chaperon to play "gooseberry."

We agree heartily that the beauty sleep is of the utmost importance for our children, and two hours sleep before midnight, when the fairies are painting the roseate hues of youth and beauty, are Nature's most valuable gift. Like many other precious gifts, however, the fact that beauty sleep is free, gratis and for nothing makes it appear valueless in the eyes of the young folks who are in their own estimation, far wiser and more wide awake than their old fashioned mothers.

A little bird whispers that Cupid was seen in Altario lately, but we shall not divulge his secrets so "wonder on, till truth makes all things plain." We just love the sound of wedding bells, don't you?

There was a full congregation to hear Rev. Amos on Sunday evening and the sermon made an excellent impression. Our minister is becoming better acquainted and the more we hear him the better we like him.

The heavy rains here have made the trails like tiny rivers, the pathetic thought is that if the clerk of the weather had favored us earlier many a crop would have been saved.

We would like to make it clear that this column does not emanate entirely from the Newsman's noodle. O dear no! Many of our esteemed friends are under a misapprehension on that score. We take it that our business as correspondent (no, gentle reader, we do not receive a Prime Minister's salary for our scribbling, it is a labor of love, ahem!) is to collect news from the town and district and dish it up for the repast of our readers. We receive items of interest from many sources, by mail (spelt both ways) by means of social small talk of everyday life and by special personal visits from interested parties.

The correspondent's humble duty is to present all and sundry paragraphs to the censorship of Y E E D, a being more powerful than the Czar, in a printing office. According to its news value, its general interest, its literary merit, the items are pieced together and make a column, and Altario sees herself as others see her.

The immortal Scottish bard wrote these lines over a century ago but they apply admirably today:

"O wad some power the giftie gie us
Tae see oursel's as ithers see us
It wad frae mony a blunder free us

A bachelor wants to know just how to make that stimulating dish of prunes we heard about on Sunday. He would be glad to hear what flavoring essence was used for the juice as he is in real need of a stimulant, physical and mental.

Perhaps the home-cooking experts will inform us on the strict Q. T.

The Ladies Aid is alert and alive to the fact that the best way to get to a man's pocket is via the feed problem. Home-made cakes, pies and bread were on sale on Saturday under charge of Mrs. Watling, and everything was sold out before night.

Note and Comment

One of the interesting features in the work of the Alberta Returned Soldiers' Commission has been the disposal of deceased soldiers' effects. The Alta. Battalions had in their ranks a majority of men from the British Isles, a great number of them being unmarried, without next of kin in Canada. During the early stages of the war these men were the first to enlist; not having relatives in Canada they packed their civilian possessions in boxes and trunks leaving them with friends or acquaintances until their return, but many will never return having given their lives for the Mother Country. These trunks and boxes, in the vast majority of cases, are still in Alberta owing to the deceased soldier not having left the address of his next of kin with the persons keeping the effects.

Persons having or knowing of effects and papers of deceased soldiers are requested to communicate with the Asst. Secretary of the A. R. S. C., 214 Beveridge Bldg., Calgary, Alta.

Day before yesterday a perfectly nice lady called up and with tears in her voice reproved us for not mentioning the fact that she had a friend visiting with her last week. We told her that she had not let us know that she had a visitor. Then she said: "Well you should have known. I thought you were running a newspaper?" Wouldn't that rattle your slats? So the people think the editor ought to be a cross between Argus and Anna Eva Fay. They seem to think that our five senses are augmented by a sixth that lets us know everything that happens, even if we see hear or smell it not. Dear lady, newspapermen are only human, or at least almost human. If you have a friend visiting you, if you are going away or have returned from a visit, if Johnnie falls and breaks his arm, if your husband chops his toe instead of a stick of wood, if anything happens to make you glad or sad, happy or mad, call us up. Tell us about it. That's the way to get it in the paper. —Simcoe Reformer.

They tell lots of tales on the editors, but this is a new one: The editor of an Alberta paper went to attend a party given by one of his neighbors, where just a few weeks before the home had been blessed with a new baby. The hostess met him at the door and, after the usual salutation, he asked after the baby's health. The lady was hard of hearing, had a bad cold, and thinking he was asking about herself, answered that although she usually had one every winter, this was the worst one she had ever had, it kept her awake at night a great deal and at first confined her to bed. Then, noticing that the editor was acting very strangely, she said she could tell by his looks and actions that he was going to have one just like hers and she asked him to come in out of the draft and sit down.

Owing to the shortage of feed and pasturage, in this district, a number of the farmers have leased hay lands up in the north and are shipping their haying outfits to the districts north of Edmonton, and will send their stock up there for the winter months. There appears to be an abundance of good hay in the far north, and the farmers are willing to go after it rather than dispose of their stock at the present time. One man in this district has leased some hay land in the High Prairie country and will have to cut a road about ten miles long to get his outfit to the hay lands. But he must have the hay.

The Outstanding Product of a Large Manufacturing House

FOUR large factories and five distributing warehouses stand back of Brandram's Genuine B.B. White Lead.

Every step in its manufacture is closely watched by chemical engineers nothing is left undone which would help to maintain the quality of the world's finest white lead.

Brandram's Genuine B.B. White Lead is different from any other white lead. To begin with, it is corroded by several secret processes which are then merged into a pigment of marvellous smoothness. This pigment is ground no less than five times, first under huge stones, and finally between heavy steel rolls. In this grinding process, it is made into a pulp by being mixed with pure refined linseed oil made in our own linseed oil mills.

Whenever you paint, use Brandram's Genuine B.B. White Lead if you mix your own paint. If you want to save the labor of mixing you can ensure the use of this quality pigment only by getting B-H "English" Paint.
